The Radio HF Internet Newsletter is distributed monthly, free of charge, to subscribers by e-mail. The Newsletter is a collection of web sites specifically related to radio (AM/FM, shortwave, Internet radio, amateur radio, scanning and CB), communications, telecommunications, radio memorabilia and collectibles, media, journalism, science, technology, space and astronomy, weather, transportation, plus some fun things thrown in for good measure! Each edition includes links to web sites submitted by subscribers or by the editor. All sites are reviewed, verified and presented to you, with the URL, and a brief description of each site.

The Newsletter arrives in your in-box as an easy to read e-mail; no complicated attachments, and no fear of viruses. The Newsletter is distributed to over 1500 subscribers. The subscriber list is secure, private and confidential. It will never be sold, redistributed or displayed.

Subscribers are encouraged to send along web sites for inclusion in future editions of the Newsletter. All contributors whose sites are published will receive a 2% discount on their next purchase from Radio H.F. The e-mail address for all contributions, comments, and subscription requests is hfnewsletter@yahoo.com mailto:hfnewsletter@yahoo.com

Welcome to the August issue the Radio HF Newsletter. Hot and humid weather continues in Montreal this month; typical for this time of year around here. Input to the Newsletter from our subscribers over the summer months is notoriously very low. This edition is no exception. I won't brow-beat you too much but as we move into the fall months, I sincerely hope that some of you will take the time to pass along a few websites to share with our readers. It gets increasingly more difficult to come up with material each month without your help, especially when you've be doing this for 16 years now! So, when you are surfing around the web, why not keep a draft e-mail to me open and copy any links you find of interesting pages into it. Then just once a month fire it off to me with your name and location. Your efforts would be greatly appreciated. Have a great rest of the summer.

Our Monthly Special Zone for August features web pages National Water Quality Month, United Nations: International Day of the World's Indigenous People, United Nations: International Youth Day, United Nations: International Day Against Nuclear Tests, International Left-handers Day and Vinyl Record Day.

This month's virtual voyage around the world, in the "Where in the World Zone", takes us to the heart of Europe, to Austria. Officially the Republic of Austria, it is a federal republic and a landlocked country of roughly 8.5 million people in Central Europe. It is bordered by the Czech Republic and Germany to the north, Hungary and Slovakia to the east, Slovenia and Italy to the south, and Switzerland and Liechtenstein to the west. The territory of Austria covers 83,855 square kilometres (32,377 sq mi) and has a temperate and alpine climate. Austria's terrain is highly mountainous, lying within the Alps; only 32% of the country is below 500 metres (1,640 ft), and its highest point is 3,798 metres (12,461 ft). The majority of the population speak local Bavarian dialects of German as their native language, and German in its standard form is the country's official language. Other local official languages are Hungarian, Burgenland Croatian, and Slovene.

Let's get on to this month's links. Beware though; the pickings might be a little slim in this issue.

NEW FROM ICOM
THE ID-51A DUAL BAND D-STAR PORTABLE TRANSCEIVER

It is almost like Christmas with all the new gear being introduced by Icom. After Icom received rave reviews on the ID-31A, and hearing how being dual band would be the perfect D-STAR portable, we're excited to introduce Icom's latest D-STAR portable: the ID-51A Dual Band Handheld. The 26.4mm slim body contains 5W output, VHF/UHF dual bands, a rich D-STAR and integrated GPS receiver feature set. FM and AM broadcast stations can be monitored while using the dualwatch function for monitoring VHF/UHF ham bands. When a ham band signal is received, the broadcast station is automatically muted.
For complete details on the ID-51A, available in limited quantities in various colours, please visit the Icom webpage

http://www.otr.com/index.shtml http://www.otr.com/index.shtml

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

Radio Days was born out of an interest in all things Old Time Radio, education, and an interest in the World Wide Web. It began in early 1995 and was the first domain specifically dedicated to old time radio. The web site has been featured in many publications including The New York Times, USA Today, CNN and many educational institutions.

The mission of this site is to be both an educational tool as well as a historical reference for the various aspects of Old Time Radio including drama, comedy, mystery, and news.

ARRL's Even More Wire Antenna Classics - Volume 3
Compiled by Steve Ford WB8IMY

I have been in ham radio for just a touch under 40 years. I have always used simple wire antennas to get the job done. My battle cry for HF operation has always been: "WIRE IS CHEAP!"

More importantly, wire antennas allow for easy experimentation and tweaking.
Many of the designs I have had great success with have come from the ARRL's various antenna design books. So when I saw a new compilation of wire antenna ideas gleaned from the past 10 years of QST Magazine, I did my wire antenna Happy Dance.
This latest book contains 40 practical wire antenna designs that can be put into service by any ham at any skill level. Chapters cover Portable, Directional, Multiband, Single Band and even Stealth designs.
As a mentioned earlier in this column, I am currently spending some time trailer camping and operating QRP from the various locations I am setting up camp. I was quickly attracted to the ideas in the Portable section of the book. I am already constructing Herman W2FRH's Near End-Fed 20- Meter Antenna for my next trip out. For the home QTH, I am going to try to string up Mike AB1AW's End-Fed Half Wave 80 Meter design.
If you are in a restricted location or are concerned about getting into neighborhood tiffs over your hobby Bruce N0ADL's article entitled "Surprising Results with a Low, Hidden Wire Antenna" should provide a great deal of inspiration.
There is an antenna idea in this book to fit just about every station configuration there is.

This publication is available from ARRL or from your favourite radio and communications publications retailer, including Radio HF (ed.)

Arduino for Ham Radio
Arduino Microcontroller Projects You Can Build Today!
By Glen Popiel, KW5GP
The Arduino has become widely popular among hobbyists and ham radio operators. Hams are exploring these powerful, inexpensive microcontrollers, creating new projects and amateur station gear. With its Open Source model, the Arduino community freely shares software and hardware designs, making projects easier to build and modify.
Arduino for Ham Radio introduces you to the exciting world of microcontrollers and Open Source hardware and software. It starts by building a solid foundation through descriptions of various Arduino boards and add-on components, followed by a collection of ham radio-related practical projects. Beginning with simple designs and concepts and gradually increasing in complexity and functionality, there is something here for everyone. Projects can be built quickly and used as-is, or they can be expanded and enhanced with your own personal touches.

PRIME TIME SHORTWAVE

Prime Time Shortwave is a listing of English shortwave broadcast that are updated frequently by webmasters Daniel Sampson and by database administrator Ernest Riley. The schedules are constantly updated from various print and internet sources as well as from monitoring by the webmaster and other shortwave listeners and DXers. The shortwave schedules are available by time, country and frequency format. Also, they are available in ASCII, Dbase and Excel. You will also find links to some of the best radio related websites and to the international broadcasters and time conversion charts (some provided by Craig Braun).
